正午PD (Professional Development) 会

The Bologna Process —the European reform process to constitute a European Higher Education Area (EHEA) — has had a deep impact into the structure of the Spanish Higher Education system. In a few years, several changes had been introduced, affecting from the design of the degrees to the teaching-learning approaches. This seminar introduces the situation, features and challenges of Higher Education in Spain (stressing its integration within the EHEA and the broader Spanish education system), with the aim of offering a standpoint to understand, analyze, discuss and compare it with other educational contexts.
