INFORMATION

1. English Courses in General Education Program

Our General Education English Program is mainly composed of the following required courses.

English A: for first-year students; general exercises for reading English texts; aiming to improve students' ability to read English texts with accuracy and rapidity and expand their vocabulary.

English B: for first-year students; general exercises for communicating in English; aiming to improve students' ability to communicate and express their thoughts in English, through various activities involving exercises in listening, writing, speaking, and so on.

English C: for second-year students; exercises in practical English; aiming to further improve students' ability to command English, fostered in "English A" and "English B" courses, and to develop higher-level communication skills in English.

For the respective courses above, a couple of advanced classes and classes for repeaters are offered in addition to regular classes. Also, a couple of "Practical English Skills (PES)" classes, which are interchangeable with "English C" classes, are offered. PES classes are small-sized (twenty students at the maximum), are taken charge of mainly by native speakers of English, and aim to improve students' presentation skills through intensive exercises.

2. Term of Employment and Pay

- 1) Yearly contract. Renewable under the related regulations of Tohoku University.
- 2) 12,000 JPY per class. Transportation expenses are reimbursed only for the commute from within or around Sendai city.

3. Workload

Four 90-minute classes per week at the maximum.

4. Others

Part-time lecturers should attend faculty development seminars, English teachers' meetings, and so on. Please remember that the rewards for these occasions may not be given and that the transportation expenses on these occasions may not be reimbursed.
